The Nation's Dead.

In vast cemeteries, over the hard-fought fields of the war, in a thousand burial places throughout the land, three-quarters of a million soldiers sleep the sleep of death.

Side by side, the Blue and the Gray are laid, and a nation holds solemn requiem above its dead. Kind hearts are once more stirred, sacred memories revived, and tributes of affection laid upon the graves of those who perished in that hearts were filled with the bitterness of sectional hate unite in this tribute to the worth and nobility of the American Sol-

Time has done much to heal the scars of war: it is sad indeed that it has not done more. The magnanimity of the great hearts that fought the nation's battles is well shown in the quick forgive ness and patriotism of the great mass of the people. The war left nothing to quarrel over except its bitter memories. Slavery, that hoary relic of barbarism, was swept away in the streams of blood which flowed from noble hearts. The indivisibility of the Union was forever es tablished. Its onward march to grander conquests was made possible. Over the graves of a nation's dead while there is lamentation for personal and national loss,—there is also a thank ful sense of satisfaction in the removal of a vast national curse, whose blighting presence was a continual menace to the prosperity of the Union.

Much as we honor the Southern soldier for his heroism, his alliance with treason and slavery was unholy, and fatal

Unreconstructed Rebels like Ex-President Davis, upon whose head rests the responsibility of untold bloodshed and loss, may talk of the righteeness of the Lost Cause; - thoughtless men may applaud, but the demon of national discord is exorcised, and secession and slavery shall rest in the graves of their defenders. The angry remonstrances which have gone echoing over the hills and valleys of the loyal States are but the precursors of the terrible storm which shall burst over the heads of those who shall endeavor to rekindle the strife.

Generosity and forbearance may permit great latitude to the leaders of the Lost Cause, but the results obtained by the surrender at Appomattox will not be frittered away. The successful cause is not dead, but is ready to re-assert its authority at the proper time.

Beside the graves of its dead, the nation stands with bowed head, and hands laden with wreaths of honor. With thankful hearts her sufferings, her toils, and her tears are remembered. Not in bitterness and hatred does she recall the past, but glad of heart, she looks forward to a new future, when North and South. East and West, shall stand shoulder to shoulder for the prosperity of the Union, and the happiness of the whole people. Her blessings shall rest upon those who counsel forbearance, patience, and goodfeeling, while those who stir up strife shall have the hatred of every patriotic heart.

To preserve the Union, to establish government for the people, and by the people, the heroes of the war have died; it is the grand mission of each generation to perfect these blessings and transmit them to their children intact. So shall the Nation's dead be justified, and their honors grow brighter with the revolving years.

The Bribe-Taker.

The conviction of Alderman Jachne of the crime of bribery in the matter of the Broadway Franchise, is a triumph of law over political influence which will cheer the hearts of many who have begun to dispair of the republic. The full measure of credit for this result should be awarded to the firm and fearless Judge who presided at this trial. Every step of the proceedings showed that Judge Barrett was determined that, while the pris oner was to be protected in all his legal rights, no false issues should be permitted to be brought into the case, and above all, that the Jury should be kept from all chance of outside influence.

There were one or two men on that Jury who would have hung out for a disagreement if they had dared to do so, but the evidence was so plain and conclusive that they did not have the courage to publish themselves as the tools of the corporation which had defrauded the City.

Judge Barrett has sentened the convicted Alderman to nearly a ten years term in the states' prison, and we have no doubt but that Jachne will serve the State better than he served the City.

Soldier Presidents.

Senator Saulsbury, of Delaware, thinks a law should be passed prohibiting any Union soldier from being a candidate for the Presidency. Of course this fling is aimed at General Logan and we feel no surprise that this venomous old copperhead from Delaware trembles when he thinks that a Union soldier may lead the Republican party in 1888.

Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur were all Union soldiers, and it was not until a civilian was nominated that defeat met the party that has always honored her brave and loyal soldiers. Blaine was a gallant leader, and he has submitted to defeat with a spirit that proves that he was worthy of victory, but the country has several brave soldiers, among them Generals Logan and Hawley, who are sufficiently formidable to lead Democrats of the Saulsbury type to wish for a law that shall bar them from the field.

The country owes too much to her soldiers, dead and living, to take any step which shall make a veteran think that this nation was not worthy of the hardships he endured in her defense. We It is pleasant thus to see those whose say, let us have another soldier President aud bar out the man who sent a substitute when he was drafted.

> Ex-president Arthur's law partner, Mr. Ransom; Judge Hyer, of Rahway; Legislator A. A. Drake, of Westfield; Rev. Dr. Ballard, of Ocean Grove; and many others are witnesses that Palmer's "Skin-Success" is a safe, sure and speedy Remedy for skin complaints of ev ry name and

By the authority conferred on me by Join Resolution No. 1, passed by the Legislature of this State, approved March 10, 1884, entitled "Joint Resolution in reference to pension claims of New Jersey Volunteers," I desire to announce to all concerned that the Congr ss of the United States, by bill approved March 19, 1886, has increased the rate of pension for widows and dependent relatives of soldiers and sailors of the late war from eight to twelve dollars per month, and that the increased allowance will be paid on the vouchers of June 4, 1886, without any application therefor on the part of pension-

An amendment to the pension law is now pending and will probably pass increasing the rate of pension per month to minor children from two to four dollars. I presume the same mode of payment will be followed. A bill is also pending in Congress granting a
